Une Femme Pas Comme Les Autres is an award winning, Burkinabe comedy from 2014.

Mina finds her unfaithful husband in bed with the wife of their neighbor. But instead of divorce Mina decides that she will also take a lover and that he should live together with them. Now Mina's husband gets the experience of how thousands of women live every day, sharing their significant other with someone else.

The film addresses the subject polygamic relationship in a humorous way, but from a different point of view.
